Will an annoying
postage-stamp-size
ad inspire you to pursue journalism?
What, it doesn't?
Why not? What's wrong with you? And what's up with that hair cut? Who do you think you are,
Johnny Depp?
Look at me when I'm talking to you!

The Scarlet parody
based on an idea from The Scarlet in the 70s, when they did this to themselves every few months, just for fun.

Classifieds

For Sale: 2 ex-boyfriends, somewhat used, both 1965 models. First one: In great shape, long hair, not terribly bright but nice, low maintenance, will treat you well. Asking $50.

Second one: Needs a lot of repair work, very high maintenance, inattentive, lacks emotions, usually drunk. Asking $2.50 or best offer. Buy one or buy them both! In fact, if you order both now, I'll throw in some sort of bonus knife— it slices, it dices— will come in handy when number 2 starts to whine or when number 1 refuses to let you watch the news on election night because wrestling is on! Don't miss this once in a lifetime opportunity.
