

Top Eleven Rejected Ice Cream Flavors

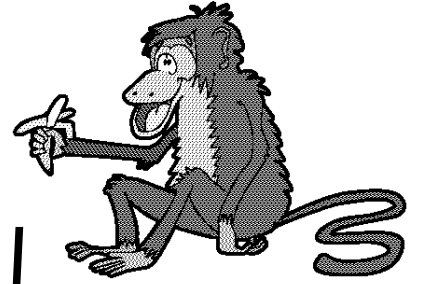

- 11) Alpo Avalanche
- 10) French-Canadian Vanilla
- 9) Maple Walrus
- 8) Frozac
- 7) Crazy Jose
- 6) Oysters n' Fudge
- 5) Fargo Ripple
- 4) Carbon Freeze
- 3) Buddy Hacket
- 2) Lint
- 1) Pasticcio

by Randy Mack & Bill Evans

TWO WORDS...

Marty Mohr

HA HA HA HA HA!

LUV,

JASON

SERIOUS (OPINION)

A PLAGUE OF DO-NOTHING-NESS BY ERIC G. ANDERSON

I lie here, at 2:30 in the morning, trying to soothe my overactive mind. It is amazing that among 2800 fellow college students that I feel so alone. It is not a feeling of loneliness that I am experiencing; what I feel is this overwhelming drive to yell at the world about truth, freedom, and the plague of "do-nothingness."

I feel as if I am the only one who has eyes that see things for what they are. Indeed, most people go through life with their eyes closed, never quite sure of their direction. All the while experiencing fleeting senses of security as they randomly bump into others who are equally blind and obliviously lost. In short, living their lives vicariously off others like a giant leech.

Perhaps I give others too much credit; the blind-person analogy of life does not quite work because people do see the world with their own eyes. They just choose to ignore or dismiss their visions as being deceiving. It is not their fault, the eyes only report what they perceive. A mind is required to interpret the data that the eyes download.

This is where one of the greatest crimes of our time comes into play. It is the wholesale cheating of the mind through the abandonment of reason that leaves people blind with the inability to distinguish between true and false, right and wrong. Reason is sacrificed to noble causes such as altruism and vague catch-phrases such as "the public good." In some cases, just plain old laziness and apathy reduces the mind to a vegetable state.

It is not too late, for we have our whole lives ahead of us, with the freedom to make them as splendid as possible. The choice is yours to make. All it requires is the simple opening of your eyes to all the wonderful potentials that exist in this world.

10. UC restroom would be referred to as his "office." [Cathy O'Brien]
9. Instead of saying "right on" all the time, he would raise his thumbs and exclaim "Aaeeyyy" whenever he felt like expressing agreement. [Cindy Conti]
8. Would work a comb better. [Emily Sachs]
7. Stories about Abou replaced with stories about chopper. [Randy Mack]
6. Could expect big ol' hugs and kisses from "uncle" Anson Williams. [Trish Nugent]
5. He would wear a lot more leather. [Emily Sachs]
4. Everyone would call him the Kleinz except Mrs. C. [Randy Mack]
3. Would win awards for dorky dance sequence in Weezer video. [Cathy O'Brien]
2. Joanie loves Nathan? [Trish Nugent]
1. He could take all the goop on his hair and use it to give Clark a new paint job! [Pearl Kleinberger, mom]